THIS IS UNEVALUATED INFORMATION

50X1-HUM-

1. An airfield was located about 300 meters west of Eisseln, north of Kaliningrad, as shown on attached Sketch No. 1, where it is marked A. The airfield was so concealed behind some dunes that it could hardly be seen from the sea.
2. The dimensions were 1200-1500 meters NE/SW by 350-400 meters NW/SE. In the southwest corner of the airfield there was a concrete surface approximately 600 x 250 meters in area.
3. There were no permanent buildings on the airfield, but three grayish-brown tents had been pitched at the southwest side of the concrete area. The tents measured about 40 x 20 x 6 or 7 meters in height. Two large aircraft once were seen to emerge from the center tent. It was not known whether any of the tents were used as living quarters.
4. The two aircraft seen emerging from the center tent were large four-engine aircraft with a wing span of about 25 to 30 meters and a nose projecting about two to three meters. Before taking off in an easterly direction, they appeared to fuel from three large tank trucks, which drove away before the take-off.
5. On one or two occasions some twin-engine high-wing monoplanes were also seen to land on the concrete surface, and to take off again after about an hour. These aircraft had a wing span of eight to ten meters and were about 10 meters long. The nose projected about one meter. Armament and crews could not be observed.
6. A number of Germans [redacted] were forcibly employed in bringing newly sawn beechwood beams, 12 m long by 40 cm thick, to a corner of the airfield and stacking them there. Broken stones were also piled in this part of the airfield. Other stones and usable old beams were also brought here from Lantau, Granz and Weiselkitten. [redacted]
